Special: San Antonio-Based Accordion Group Needs Your Help

Dreams Fulfilled Through Music

June 29, 2010

A world-recognized group of talented accordionists from San Antonio is counting the days to a big national competition -- and could use your help to get there.

The Alamo Angels Accordion Orchestra will vie for top ratings at the 2010 American Accordionists' Association Competition and Festival in Hershey, PA to be held July 14-18. The Alamo Angels is the only performing group in the world that includes people with special needs, as well as senior citizens who serve as mentor musicians.

This is the group's 5th year to attend the national competition. In years past, the accordionists from San Antonio have proved themselves -- earning excellent and superior ratings -- as they have faced off against other musicians based strictly on their musical abilities.

The Alamo Angels are a just one of the many performing groups/soloists sponsored by Dreams Fulfilled Through Music -- a non-profit (501c3) organization, which provides adaptive music education, music therapy and performance opportunities for people of all ages with special needs.

With the competition just two weeks away, the Alamo Angels are in need of financial help to make it to the national festival. If you would like to make a donation or to learn more about this truly unique and talented group, please visit: www.dreamsfulfilledthroughmusic.org or call (210) 771-5809. To whom it may concern:

I have had the pleasure of working with Mary Kathryn Archuleta and the Alamo Angels for the past 5 or 6 years. When they first began attending and performing at our annual festivals, we were not sure how long they would be able to continue. But after six years of persevering and rehearsing, this group of special needs individuals has shown that with a little patience, dedication and practice, anything is possible.

To the best of my knowledge, there is no other group of its kind in the USA or for that matter in the world.

Congratulations to Mary Kathryn Archuleta and the Alamo Angels Accordion Orchestra for achieving outstanding musical excellence. We look forward to their participation for many years.

Sincerely,

Linda Soley Reed, President
